By WILLIAM G. SHEPHERD.

VERA CRUZ, May 10.—Zapata, the tiger bandit from the south, has again flouted Huerta, heaped insults on the dictator's envoys, and threatened dire consequences to the whole Huerta regime.

Yesterday Huerta, with the blodthirsty threats of the brigand still ringing in his ears, and fresh in his mind the horrifying spectacle of his last messengers returning to Mexico from a peace mission to Zapata with their ears lopped off, made one last effort to win to his standard the enemy in the south.
